Background of the development

Shiseido has been nurturing its strong global brands under the framework of Centers of Excellence (COEs), which is a part of the company's mid-to-long-term strategy, VISION 2020. Each product category is led by the region that excels in that category, and the designated CEOs—Skincare COE in Japan, Makeup and Digital COEs in the Americas, and Fragrance COE in EMEA—take the lead in strategic planning and product development.

The new SHISEIDO Makeup is the first collection developed by the Makeup COE based in New York. The collection theme is VISIBLE FEELS INVISIBLE. It offers delicate lightweight textures that can be achieved only with Japan quality and feel almost like skincare products. The items are weightless but lasting, and make a statement with bold, impactful colors. Furthermore, the SHISEIDO Makeup collection is categorized into four reimagined textures—Gels, Shimmering Dews, Inks, and Powders, instead of the traditional categories of face parts such as eyes and lips. Its packaging is also uniquely developed with some of the slimmest componentry on the market and a lacquered red line, embodying the concept of MODERN JAPANESE.
