I deeply appreciate receiving this highly honored award. I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the selection committee members for this award. Anti-tumor immunotherapy has been a research theme that I've wanted since before I became a medical doctor. I hope this research is a way to unravel a part of unresolved problems. I would like to make full use of this precious opportunity to advance my research theme.

It is a great honor for me to receive JSID's Fellowship Shiseido Research Grant for 2022. I would like to thank Shiseido and the committee members of JSID. I have worked on ichthyosis mice models and techniques to elucidate the tumorigenesis of malignant skin tumors at the Department of Dermatology, Hokkaido University. In this research, I will focus on angiosarcoma and develop novel therapeutics. I will continue to search for new treatment methods in the dermatological field.
